Privacy Policy

Last updated: October 25, 2026 • Operator: Jíjé Group Inc.

---

1. Who we are and who this Policy covers

This Privacy Policy explains how Jíjé Group Inc. ("Jíjé," "we," "us," or "our") collects, uses, discloses, retains, and protects personal information in connection with jije.ca, our applications, the Jíjé marketplace, customer support, and the vendor, driver, and other partnership interest forms (together, the "Services").

This Policy applies to website visitors, prospective customers, customers, and individuals contacting us or applying to become Vendors or delivery providers, including business representatives. Approved vendors, delivery providers, and employees may receive additional notices relevant to their working arrangements and any later identity, eligibility, or payment verification.

Personal information generally means information about an identifiable person. Business information can also be personal information when it identifies an individual, such as a sole proprietor or a named business contact.

2. Our privacy contact

Jíjé is responsible for personal information under its control, including information processed by service providers on its behalf. A designated Jíjé Privacy Contact handles questions, complaints, and requests about personal information. Email: admin@jije.ca. Please use the subject line "Privacy Request" where practicable.

We take steps appropriate to the circumstances to oversee our service providers, protect information, and investigate privacy concerns. You may also contact the relevant privacy regulator where applicable.

3. Personal information we collect

Information depends on the service or feature you use. We aim to collect only information reasonably needed for an identified purpose.

Website visitors and general inquiries: contact information you submit, messages, preferences, IP address, browser or device details, pages viewed, referral information, cookies, and similar technical data where used.

Customer accounts and orders: names, email and phone details, account preferences and authentication records, delivery addresses or pickup details, cart and order contents, participating Vendors, order history, substitutions, delivery instructions, support requests, reviews, and ratings.

Payment and transaction information: payment status, transaction references, charges, tips where applicable, refunds, and limited payment-method details provided by the payment processor. Full payment card information is generally handled by the payment provider rather than stored directly by Jíjé.

Prospective Vendors and business representatives: business name and type, contact name, email, phone, location or address, website or social profile, products or services, existing delivery or pickup arrangements, application notes, review status, and our related communications.

Prospective delivery providers: contact name, email, phone, city or service area, proposed vehicle type, availability, relevant delivery or shopping interest or experience, age-eligibility confirmation, application status, and related communications. The initial interest form is not intended to collect government identity numbers, banking credentials, insurance documents, or full identity records.

Location details: addresses you enter and, if a location-based feature is offered and you grant the required permission, device location data. You can generally provide an address manually for customer orders where the service supports it.

Other communications: survey replies, feedback, inquiries, messages, and information you voluntarily provide. Please do not send unnecessary sensitive information through general forms or email.

4. How we receive information

We collect information directly from you when you visit a site, register, submit an application, contact us, or place an order; automatically from your device when technologies are used; and from service providers or relevant marketplace partners as reasonably needed for the Services.

If another person submits information about you, such as an authorized business representative, we may use it for the purposes described here and take reasonable steps to confirm that it is appropriate to do so.

5. Why we use personal information

We use information for purposes identified at or before collection, including:

- Operating the website, accounts, and marketplace features; authenticating users; supporting orders, payments, refunds, pickup, and delivery where available.
- Reviewing vendor and driver expressions of interest, assessing suitability for the relevant program or service area, managing application status, responding to questions, and arranging next steps or later onboarding when applicable.
- Communicating about applications, accounts, orders, security matters, service changes, and support requests.
- Preventing fraud, abuse, and security incidents; enforcing applicable terms; and meeting legal, tax, accounting, regulatory, or recordkeeping obligations.

- Understanding use of our website and services, fixing errors, improving accessibility and performance, and developing marketplace features or food-discovery tools.
- Sending newsletters, launch news, or promotional messages only when we have an appropriate legal basis and any consent required for that communication.

We do not treat submitting a vendor or driver application as permission to send unrelated marketing. We do not collect application responses for the purpose of training unrelated general-purpose artificial-intelligence models. We may use properly aggregated or de-identified transaction, catalogue, or service-performance information to improve Jíjé services, subject to applicable privacy requirements.

6. Application decisions and future onboarding

An interest application is reviewed for potential follow-up and is not automatic approval or guaranteed work. We may request additional eligibility or verification information during a later onboarding process, using a separate secure workflow and any additional notices required at that time.

We may keep applicants informed about their own application and relevant onboarding opportunities. If we wish to use an application for a materially different purpose, we will provide notice and obtain consent where required.

7. When we share information

We share personal information only where reasonably necessary for the purposes described in this Policy, including with:

- Vendors involved in a customer order, to provide the items, instructions, and contact details necessary to fulfil their portion of that order. Vendors must not use order-related contact information for unrelated marketing without appropriate authorization.
- Delivery providers and logistics partners, to provide recipient details, delivery instructions, and order references needed for authorized deliveries.
- Providers working for us, such as website hosting, application or form processing, databases, payment services, email and communications, analytics, mapping, technical support, and security providers, under arrangements appropriate to the information and services involved.
- Our authorized personnel and professional advisers who require information for legitimate business, legal, security, or compliance purposes.
- Regulators, courts, law-enforcement authorities, or other parties where required or authorized by law, or where necessary to protect legal rights and safety.
- Parties to a proposed or completed financing, merger, acquisition, restructuring, or sale, where permitted by law and subject to appropriate protections.

We do not sell customer contact lists to Vendors. We do not share vendor or driver application details with unrelated advertisers for their own marketing without appropriate notice and authorization. An application alone does not authorize external publication of applicant information.

8. Cookies, analytics, and advertising technology

We may use essential cookies and comparable tools for site functionality, security, authentication, and saved preferences. We may also use analytics technologies to understand website performance and interactions. If non-essential analytics or advertising technologies require additional notice or consent under applicable law, we will provide the necessary choices.

Your browser may offer controls for cookies. Disabling certain cookies can affect website features. We will not place personally identifiable application answers into general website analytics events.

9. Email, SMS, and marketing choices

We may send application confirmations, responses to inquiries, account alerts, order communications, and similar service-related messages where appropriate. Marketing communications are separate and are sent only when permitted by law. Where required, commercial electronic messages will identify Jíjé, provide contact details, and include a working unsubscribe mechanism.

If you provide an optional marketing opt-in on a form, we record that choice. You can withdraw permission for promotional messages using the instructions in the message or by contacting admin@jije.ca. Unsubscribing from promotions does not necessarily prevent necessary responses to an outstanding application or service transaction.

10. Information accuracy, retention, and disposal

We take reasonable steps to keep information accurate for the purposes for which it is used. You may contact us to request correction of inaccurate personal information.

We retain personal information only while reasonably needed for the identified purpose, a lawful related purpose, or an applicable legal, accounting, security, or dispute-resolution obligation. Customer transaction records, active account details, and application records may have different retention needs.

Applications that do not progress to onboarding are periodically reviewed and deleted or de-identified when no longer needed for the application or a legitimately communicated future opportunity, subject to applicable requirements. We maintain internal retention and disposal procedures rather than retaining applicant information indefinitely by default.

When retention is no longer justified, we securely delete, anonymize, or otherwise dispose of information according to applicable requirements.

11. Information security

We use administrative, organizational, and technical safeguards proportionate to the sensitivity of information, including access controls, reasonable security procedures, and oversight of service providers. Access is limited to personnel and providers with a legitimate need.

No online system is completely risk-free. If an incident affects personal information, we will investigate and make any notifications or reports required by law.

12. Storage and processing outside Canada

We may use technology and service providers that store or process personal information in Canada or other countries. When information is processed elsewhere, it may be subject to the laws of that jurisdiction, including lawful access by authorities. We use appropriate contractual or other protections when engaging providers on our behalf.

13. Your privacy choices and rights

Subject to applicable law, you may request access to the personal information we hold about you, ask for corrections, withdraw a consent where applicable, request deletion of information that is no longer required, or challenge our privacy practices. We may need to confirm your identity before responding, and legal exceptions may apply.

Withdrawing information essential to an active order or application may prevent us from completing the requested service or review. Send requests to admin@jije.ca with the subject "Privacy Request". We will respond within the time required by applicable law.

14. Age and children

The customer-facing Platform is intended for persons aged 16 or older, subject to any higher legal-capacity or consent requirement. Initial delivery applicant forms are intended for persons aged 18 or older. We do not knowingly seek personal information from persons who are ineligible for the relevant service. If we learn that information was collected improperly, we will take appropriate action.

15. Third-party websites

The Services may contain links to independent websites, social networks, Vendor pages, or other services. Where you choose to interact directly with an unrelated third party, its own terms and privacy policy may apply. We encourage you to review them.

16. Changes to this Policy

We may update this Policy as our Services, providers, practices, or legal requirements change. A revised version will display a new updated date. We will give additional notice or obtain additional consent where applicable law requires.

17. Contact us

Jíjé Group Inc. | Privacy Contact | Email: admin@jije.ca | Website: https://jije.ca. For privacy inquiries, access requests, or complaints, please include "Privacy Request" in the subject line.